Digital consent is the actions we generate with other people to feel safe and cared for in the use of the Internet and technologies.

It is a free and voluntary practice that is based on agreements, respect, boundaries, desires, trust, safety, and other habits of care between people who relate to each other.

Digital consent is characterized for being:

free

voluntary

specific

explicit (it can be verbal or non-verbal)

concrete
and clear

revocable

it must be reviewed
over time

Complex

it is not a model or formula that we can repeat without adapting

Digital consent characterizes for being:

reciprocal

it is not just accepting or granting something

nuanced

it goes beyond a simple “yes or no”

quotidian

an explanation
in itself

free of violence, extortion or manipulation

goes beyond
sexual relations

it is not necessary
to justify it

*Keep in mind that digital consent can be affected by power dynamics.

We are not immune to external pressure or contexts of inequality

*¡Always trust your intuition! If you don't feel comfortable, confident or have doubts... Dig a little deeper before deciding.

¡Connect with your feelings and desires!

What might digital consent look like?

I ask before uploading a photo where they appear.

heeeeeeey can I upload the picture we took yesterday?

hmmm I don't know, can I see it first?

ah yes it's nice, upload it but please don't tag me

If they show me a picture, I don't go through the rest of the pictures in the gallery.

how cute it is, it's grown a lot! do you have any more pictures?

no, I could only take that one, it was running all over the place

I do not forward
photos or videos
without the consent of the people involved.

guys, I just got a picture of the teacher

ufff better not send it this way

yeah better

My crushes and I have a code to know if it's a good time to sext.

??

*ufff what a rush, but I'm about to go in for a doctor's appointment, I'll text
you later*

yuhuuu I'll wait for you, good luck love

thanks, talk to you soon

I practice saying "no"
even though sometimes it's hard, and I receive other people's "no" with gratitude.

no!!!

Hey..

do you feel like going to the movies with me today

helloooo, not really,
I'd prefer a chill plan
with friends

ok, thanks for telling me, we could also organize a picnic with everyone

yeah, that would be great, I'll talk to my friends to see when we can do it

great, let's talk then!

Digital consent allows us to better know ourselves and to feel safe in order to interact, cultivate affection, care and connect with others.

Think about consent in other areas of your life and practice it.

How to make it safe to say no to you?

In order to practice digital consent, it is important to learn how to receive a “no” as an answer.

It takes practice and it is not always easy but here are some ideas...

Contribute to an environment of respect where there is room for communication and where the other person feels free to express their preferences without fear of retaliation or negative consequences such as not talking to them, telling them they've disappointed you, holding resentment, or making them feel guilty on purpose these are types of punishment and manipulation

When you get a “no” respect the other person's decision and thank them for their sincerity.

That a person feels comfortable to tell you “no” is super valuable, it even gives you clues that when they say “yes” it's because they really want to.

Avoid reacting negatively

*Dealing with rejection or a “no” can be uncomfortable and painful *look for strategies

to regulate
your mood*

*lean on other people to manage these emotions.

Saying “no” can be tricky

if possible, ask more open-ended questions that leave room for dialogue and empathy.

How
would you feel if I tagged you in the photos we took yesterday

For example,
instead of
asking Can I
tag you in the
took
yesterday?
try

¡Remember!

If you are experiencing digital gender violence, you are not alone!
